

We care for our climate

The Department of Meteorology in association with the PIO (Press and Information Office), has published the booklet “We care for our Climate” in Greek, based on the corresponding English edition, published by the WMO (World Meteorological Organization). The aim of this wonderful little book is to arouse the sensitivity and interest of elementary school children on the subject akin to the problem of global climate change and the implicated consequences to our Planet, as well as to give emphasis on ways to address this problem by changing some of our everyday habits that contribute to Climate Change.

Greenhouse-gas emissions, global warming and climate change are some of the terms that are used frequently in the press, on television and radio, and children ask about their meaning and implications. This booklet aims to answer those questions in a language and style that are readily understandable and attractive to children.

Attached below is the English version of this file: