

Introduction

Cyprus Forestry College is a Governmental Institution of Tertiary Education. It is situated at Prodomos village, of Limassol district and is the only forest educational institution in Cyprus. It was established in 1951 with the main aim to train Cypriot and overseas students.

An area of 2.400 ha is under the administration of the Forestry College while part of it is included in the Troodos National Forest Park. It provides excellent facilities for all aspects of practical training in forestry. For recreation, sport activities and environmental education the following trails have been constructed:

“Fraktis Prodomou-Stavroulia”

This nature trail has been designed and constructed by the Department of Forests and funded by the Cyprus Tourism Organization. It is a linear downhill trail, completed in 2001. The starting point has an altitude of 1600m and the ending point has an altitude of 1300m above sea level.

Directional sign

Starting point: It is on the main road of Troodos square – Prodomos village just above Fraktis Prodomou (Prodomos water reservoir). Hikers can choose between two different routes ending at two different points on the asphalted main road of Pedhoulas – Kakopetria (Agios Nikolaos tis Stegis).

Length: The route ending at point 4 is 5,2km while the one ending at point 5 is 5,4km.

Walking time: 1,5h for the first route, and 2h for the second route.

Degree of difficulty: 3 (on a scale of 1-5), steep downhill gradient.

Points of interest: Rich flora, especially century - old trees of black pine, the age of which sometimes exceed 500 years, Cedar tree (Cedrus brevifolia), nepeta (Nepeta troodi), teucrium (Teucrium cyprium), alyssum (Alyssum troodi), Juniperus (Juniperus foeditissima), styrax (Styrax officinalis) etc. Plutonic rocks (pyroxenite, dunite) constitute significant elements of natural and general interest too. Along the route hikers come across extraordinary view points of the Troodos range like the Monastery of Virgin Mary at Kykkos, the Veregaria Hotel at Prodomos, the various villages of the Marathasa and Solia valleys and the Morfou bay and Pentadactylos Range. There is also a panoramic view eastwards towards the abandoned chromium mine installations.
